Elasense Collection At-A-Glance

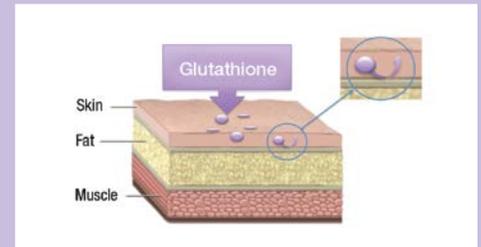

HYPOALLERGENIC!

Suitable for all skin types!

While it is extremely important to nourish our bodies with the proper foods, exercise regularly and take care of our health, it's equally important to take care of our skin. The products in the Elasense skin care collection have been developed to complement each other, working together to deliver on specific skin care needs for immediate and long term benefits.

HOW DOES GLUTATHIONE WORK ON THE SKIN?

When applied to the skin, glutathione is soaked up and transported deep within our skin where it acts as an antioxidant, evening out skin tone, minimizing the look of environmental damage and lessening the appearance of wrinkles and discoloration.

It will not penetrate into deeper layers or be transferred into the blood. It offers outer health with beauty benefits, while Immunocal helps glutathione production within your body, offering inner health benefits.

A message from Dr. Ronald Prussick, creator of the Elasense collection

"As a dermatologist in practice for over 25 years, I have always been involved in holistic research and clinical studies. I was inspired to partner with Immunotec because their innovative approach to maintaining health and wellness aligns so closely with my philosophy of preventative medicine. I helped create the Elasense line with these critical concepts in mind. The products incorporate a unique antioxidant blend to optimally reduce the signs of skin aging. Regular users should expect a healthier and younger looking appearance."
